WHO WE ARE

DocMe360 is a premier digital strategy firm and trusted advisor to our country's most prominent institutions. Based in Washington D.C., we provide innovative solutions to drive enterprise-wide growth across the healthcare, benefits, hospitality, policy, transportation, food security, and information technology industries.

HOW WE HELP

DocMe360 partners with health plans to design and implement new approaches that address complex challenges. Some examples include:

- Architecting data warehouses, application integration, and automation for processing provider data.
- Developing applications to connect members to vital transportation and increased food access.
- Automating appointment reminders and no-contact member messaging for fewer missed medical appointments.
